TIGERS FOR TOMORROW ADOPTS BEAR CUB DROPPED ILLEGALLY IN FOREST.

On June 14th, a baby black bear was found by a tourist in Bankhead National Forest Restroom. Though it is natural for Black Bears to live in the area, this did not seem to be the case with this little bear. The Tourist had went to use bathroom and was surprised by a Black Bear cub that was just as surprised by the tourist. The cub afraid of the tourist threw his hands up in the air and made advancements towards the tourist. Authorities believe the 4 month old cub was dumped at the park by someone who thought they could make him into a pet. It is still unclear if the bear was purchased at an exotic auction or if the mother was killed and the baby bear taken from the wild at a young age. The Bear was originally placed with Lawrence County Animal Control under the care of Animal Control Officer, Carolyn Atchison. When the cub was found he was 10 pounds underweight and had an eye infection. Following conversations with Ms. Atchison and the DCNR, Tigers For Tomorrow adopted the little bear that they now called Ranger Fuzzy Bear and will give him a permanent home for the rest of his life. Ranger Fuzzy Bear is not currently on exhibit for public viewing. He is still in quarantine and is getting acclimated use to his keeper. Tigers For Tomorrow will be holding fundraisers to help raise funds for the bear necessities for Ranger Fuzzy Bear. The first fundraiser planned is July 24th at the Huntsville Botanical Gardens.

Open to the public on Saturdays and Sunday for a walk about from 9-4pm. A walk about is unguided and allows you to stroll at your leisure. Private tours are also available for groups of 4 or more, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by appointment only. Private tours are guided, and a great way to learn the stories behind each animal. Donation requested for a private tour is $25.00 per person and the tour take approximately one and a half hours. Tigers for Tomorrow at UNTAMED MOUNTAIN is home to over 40 large carnivores and many other exotics and farm animals. An Animal Contact Barnyard host animals the children can get up close and personnel with. Wear comfortable shoes and bring your camera. Directions From Interstate I-59 Exit 205 Collinsville-go west 1/10 of a mile, make a left onto 51 South (2.3 miles), turn left this will still be 51 South (3.8 miles) make right of County Road 345 (8/10 of a mile) Tigers For tomorrow will be on Right hand side of road, continue up driveway parking will veer off to left.

BACK PAIN MYSTERIES REVEALED

Nearly 80% of all Americans suffer from lower back pain. This pain is usually caused by trauma to the sacroiliac joints which are the target joints at the base of the spine. You're probably asking what kind of trauma we're talking about. This is trauma such as improper lifting, car accidents, sports injuries, and several other occurrences. Pregnant women also suffer from lower back pain usually from weight gain, an increased curve of the lumbar (lower) spine, and hormone induced relaxation of the pelvic ligaments during the 3rd trimester. THE GOOD NEWS IS THERE MAY BE TREATMENT! Chiropractic care has proven to be extremely beneficial in re-aligning the sacroiliac joints. Dr. Shawn Stubbs may be able to help you with exercises focusing on strengthening the core stabilizer muscles of the spine and trunk, maintaining mobility of the sacroiliac joints and wearing a pelvic belt have all proven helpful in stabilizing the sacroiliac joints. Make an appointment today to get your BACK PAIN MYSTERY SOLVED.

Special Offer-When you bring in this article (by September 27, 2008) you will receive her entire new patient exam for $27.
